

The Fortnightly Edge

Housing Finance Intelligence Brief

MARKET
TRENDS

REGULATORY
UPDATES

STRATEGIC INSIGHTS

COMPETITIVE
TRACKER

INDUSTRY
NEWS

FORTNIGHTLY EDITION
Your fortnightly guide to what matters.

INFORMED LEADERSHIP.
STRONGER DECISIONS.

Contents

The Fortnightly Edge

- 01 ♦ At a Glance
- 02 ♦ Industry Pulse
- 03 ♦ Regulatory Watch
- 04 ♦ Competitor · Growth & Strategy
- 05 ♦ Competitor · Funding & Capital
- 06 ♦ Competitor · Risk & Governance
- 07 ♦ Competitor · Operational Signals
- 08 ♦ Key Takeaways

The fortnight, in two frames.

Home-loan pricing held steady while RBI's housing price index rose 4.2% in Q4 FY26 — but a sharp impairment-driven loss at one large HFC pulled credit-cost dispersion into focus. Among peers, the fortnight was about capital: Repco's Q4 print, ABHFL's ₹4,000 cr raise, and Chola's ₹50 bn floater.

01 Industry

Home-loan rate cards stayed broadly steady through late May, with no clear sector-wide repricing impulse.

RBI's housing price index rose 4.2% in Q4 FY26, extending the uptrend in home prices.

One large HFC reported a sharp impairment spike and a quarterly loss, highlighting credit-cost dispersion across the sector.

02 Competitor

Repco Home Finance

Reported standalone Q4 net profit of ₹129 cr for the quarter ended March 2026.

Aditya Birla Housing Finance

Approved preferential allotment via private placement of up to ₹4,000 cr.

Cholamandalam Investment & Finance

Planned to raise ₹50 bn via a floating-rate bond.

Pricing holds. Prices firm. Credit costs diverge.

Indian home-loan pricing stayed broadly steady through late May even as housing prices continued to firm. Sector signals were mixed, with idiosyncratic credit-cost spikes at one large HFC alongside open funding markets for large issuers.

◆ PRICING01

Home-loan rate cards stayed broadly steady through late May

Home-loan rate cards stayed broadly steady through late May, with no clear sector-wide repricing impulse.

IMPACT	WHY IT MATTERS
Stable pricing supports near-term disbursement momentum but limits margin expansion for HFCs facing higher incremental funding costs.	Leadership teams should sharpen risk-based pricing and channel mix to protect spreads without triggering adverse selection.

◆ HOME PRICES02

RBI's housing price index rose 4.2% in Q4 FY26

RBI's housing price index rose 4.2% in Q4 FY26, extending the uptrend in home prices.

IMPACT	WHY IT MATTERS
Higher property values support collateral coverage, but affordability pressure can slow ticket-size growth and increase early delinquency risk in stretched cohorts.	HFCs should tighten income-surrogate checks and recalibrate LTV and FOIR guardrails by micro-market and borrower segment.

◆ CREDIT COSTS03

One large HFC reported a sharp impairment spike and quarterly loss

One large HFC reported a sharp impairment spike and a quarterly loss, highlighting credit-cost dispersion across the sector.

IMPACT	WHY IT MATTERS
Investors and lenders may differentiate more sharply on underwriting quality, raising funding spreads for weaker credits and rewarding consistent asset-quality performers.	The sector is entering a scrutiny phase where transparent provisioning, collection performance, and portfolio seasoning disclosures become competitive advantages.

Growth & Strategy

16-31 MAY 2026

Repco Home Finance

EARNINGS · Q4

Reported standalone Q4 net profit of ₹129 cr for the quarter ended March 2026.

Year-on-year profit improvement alongside disbursement-led growth suggests steady execution in its core borrower segments. Peers should watch whether Repco sustains growth without loosening credit filters as competition intensifies across affordable and self-employed lending.

COMPETITOR INTELLIGENCE

Funding & Capital

Aditya Birla Housing Finance

EQUITY RAISE

Approved preferential allotment via private placement of up to ₹4,000 cr.

Fresh equity capacity can support faster AUM growth while keeping leverage and capital ratios comfortable. Competitors may face sharper pricing and distribution competition if the capital is deployed into prime salaried and affordable segments.

Cholamandalam

FLOATING-RATE BOND

Investment & Finance

Planned to raise ₹50 bn via a floating-rate bond.

A large floater programme signals strong market access and a preference to manage interest-rate risk through liability structure. Housing lenders should expect tighter competition for investor demand, especially for higher-rated NBFC paper.

Bajaj Finserv Home Loans

PRIVATE PLACEMENT

Allotted secured redeemable NCDs on a private placement basis.

Regular NCD issuance supports steady disbursement capacity and reduces reliance on bank borrowings. Peers should track whether Bajaj uses incremental funding to expand in prime home loans or adjacent LAP segments.

Tata Capital Housing Finance

NCD ALLOTMENT

Allotted non-convertible debentures.

Continued bond-market access helps maintain growth headroom and manage maturity ladders. Competitors may see tighter spreads in similar tenors if high-quality issuers keep supply consistent.

Repco Home Finance

BOARD · FUND-RAISING

Board considered fund-raising while approving audited FY2025-26 results and a final dividend.

Exploring capital options alongside dividends indicates a balancing act between shareholder payouts and growth funding. If executed, additional capital could support branch-led expansion without pressuring leverage metrics.

Risk & Governance

16-31 MAY 2026

Sammaan Capital

QUARTERLY LOSS

Reported a ₹8,101 cr loss for the March quarter as impairments surged.

The loss underscores how quickly credit costs can overwhelm earnings when portfolio stress crystallises. Sector lenders should expect heightened counterparty and investor scrutiny on provisioning discipline, vintage performance, and collateral enforceability.

Sammaan Capital

RATINGS UPGRADE

ICRA upgraded the long-term rating to AA+/Stable on its long-term debt programme.

A higher rating can lower incremental borrowing costs and improve market access despite recent earnings volatility. Peers may face tougher spread competition if Sammaan uses improved funding terms to defend or rebuild origination volumes.

Operational Signals

Aditya Birla Housing Finance

CMO · EXIT

Darshana Shah resigned as Chief Marketing Officer, effective 31 May 2026.

A senior marketing exit can affect brand momentum and demand-generation continuity during a capital-deployment phase. Competitors may find a near-term window in segments where ABHFL's campaign cadence temporarily slows, particularly as the group puts fresh equity to work.

Three signals to carry into the next fortnight.

01 Steady pricing shifts the battle to mix.

Home-loan pricing remained steady, so margin protection will depend more on mix, underwriting, and liability management than on headline rate moves.

02 Rising prices help collateral, strain affordability.

Rising housing prices support collateral values but can strain affordability, making segment-level credit filters and LTV discipline more important.

03 Capital access is the new competitive edge.

Capital and bond-market access is emerging as a competitive edge, while credit-cost shocks can rapidly reshape investor and lender confidence.

PREPARED BY	DISTRIBUTION	CLASSIFICATION	NEXT EDITION
BI, Data Science, and AI PNB Housing Finance Limited	Managing Director & CEO National Heads · Executive Committee	Internal · Strategic Not for external circulation	Fortnight ending 15 June 2026

Sourced from public filings, regulatory announcements, and market commentary. Figures rounded; treat all forward-looking observations as indicative, not as guidance. Verify any item before acting.